and the Honey Tree

Pearson English Kids Readers

Level 1

This is Winnie the Pooh.

He is hungry.

Winnie the Pooh looks in the house.

Oh, no! There is no honey here.

The bees have honey in the honey tree!

Winnie the Pooh goes up the tree ...

... and down the tree.

Winnie the Pooh is hungry!
He walks in the woods. He sees a door.

“Hello, Rabbit. It’s Pooh.”

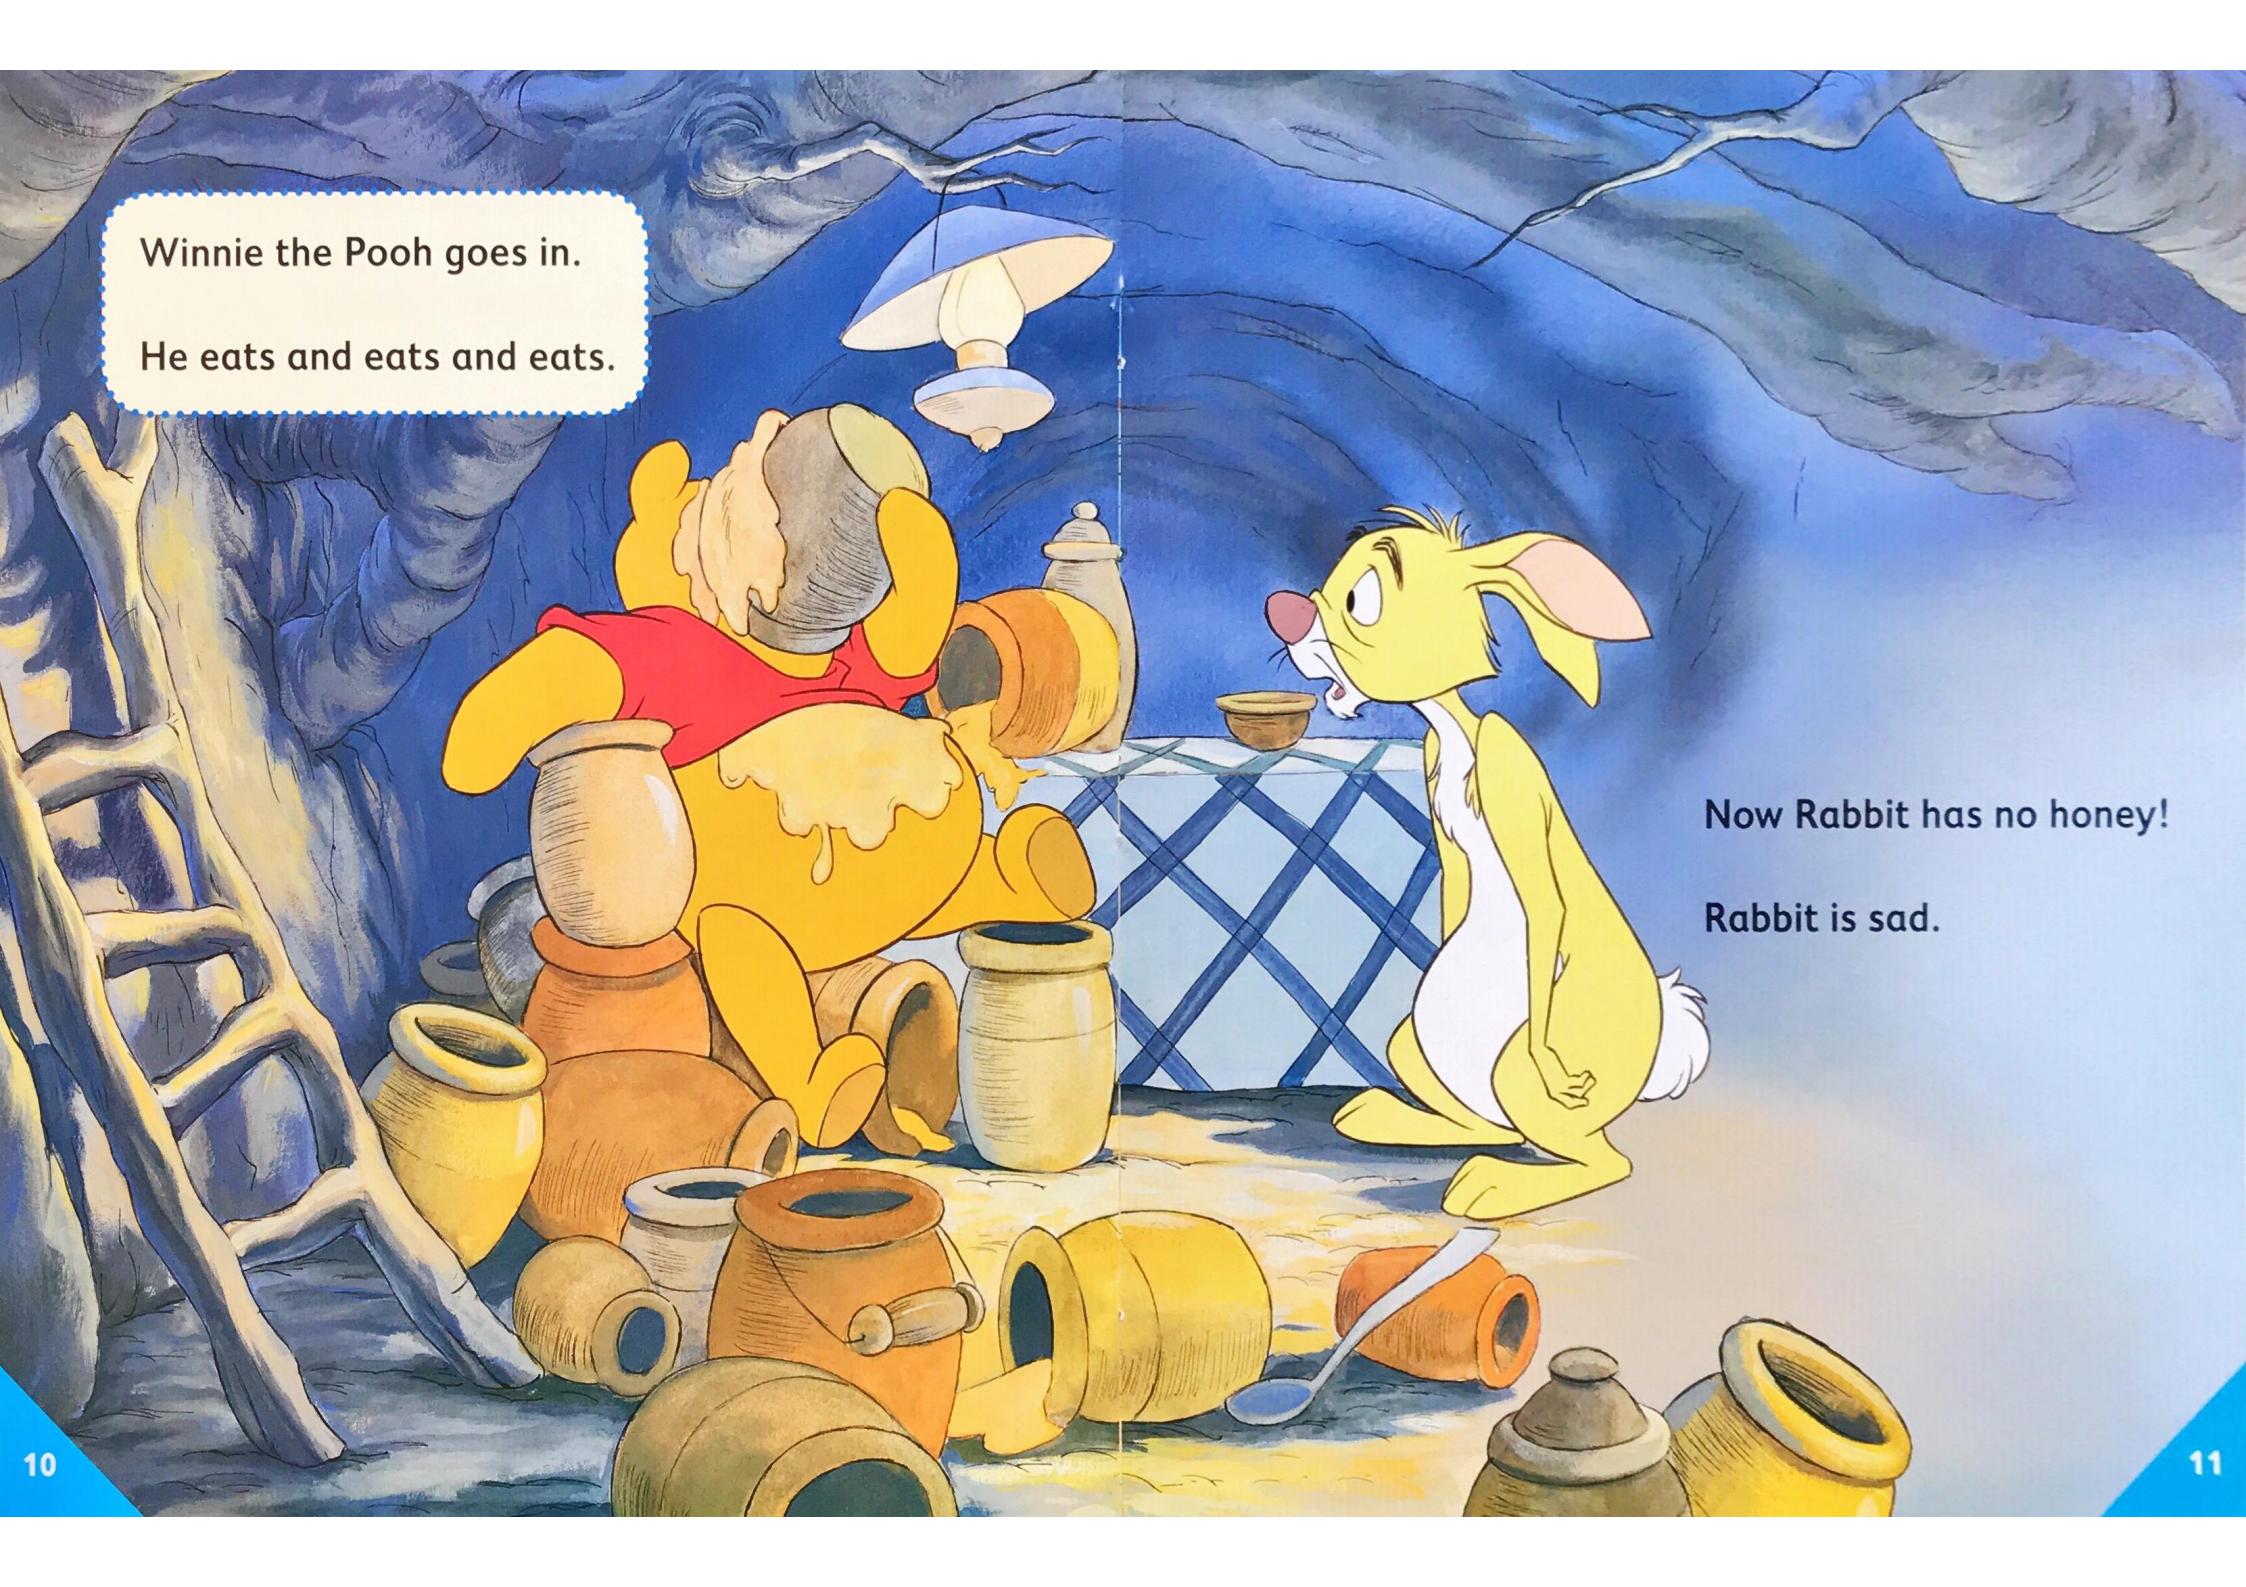

“Hello, Pooh.”

“I’m hungry! Mmmm. Is that honey?”

“Yes, Pooh. It is. It’s MY honey.”

Winnie the Pooh goes in.

He eats and eats and eats.

Now Rabbit has no honey!

Rabbit is sad.

Oh, no! The door is small.

Winnie the Pooh is big.

A scene from a children's book. On the left, Eeyore, a donkey with a dark blue body and a sad expression, is lying on his back on a large, textured rock. He is looking up at Winnie the Pooh, who is a bright yellow bear wearing a red shirt. Winnie the Pooh is standing on the rock, facing Eeyore. In the background, there is a large tree trunk and some bushes. A speech bubble above Eeyore contains the text "One, two, three." The overall style is colorful and whimsical, typical of children's literature.

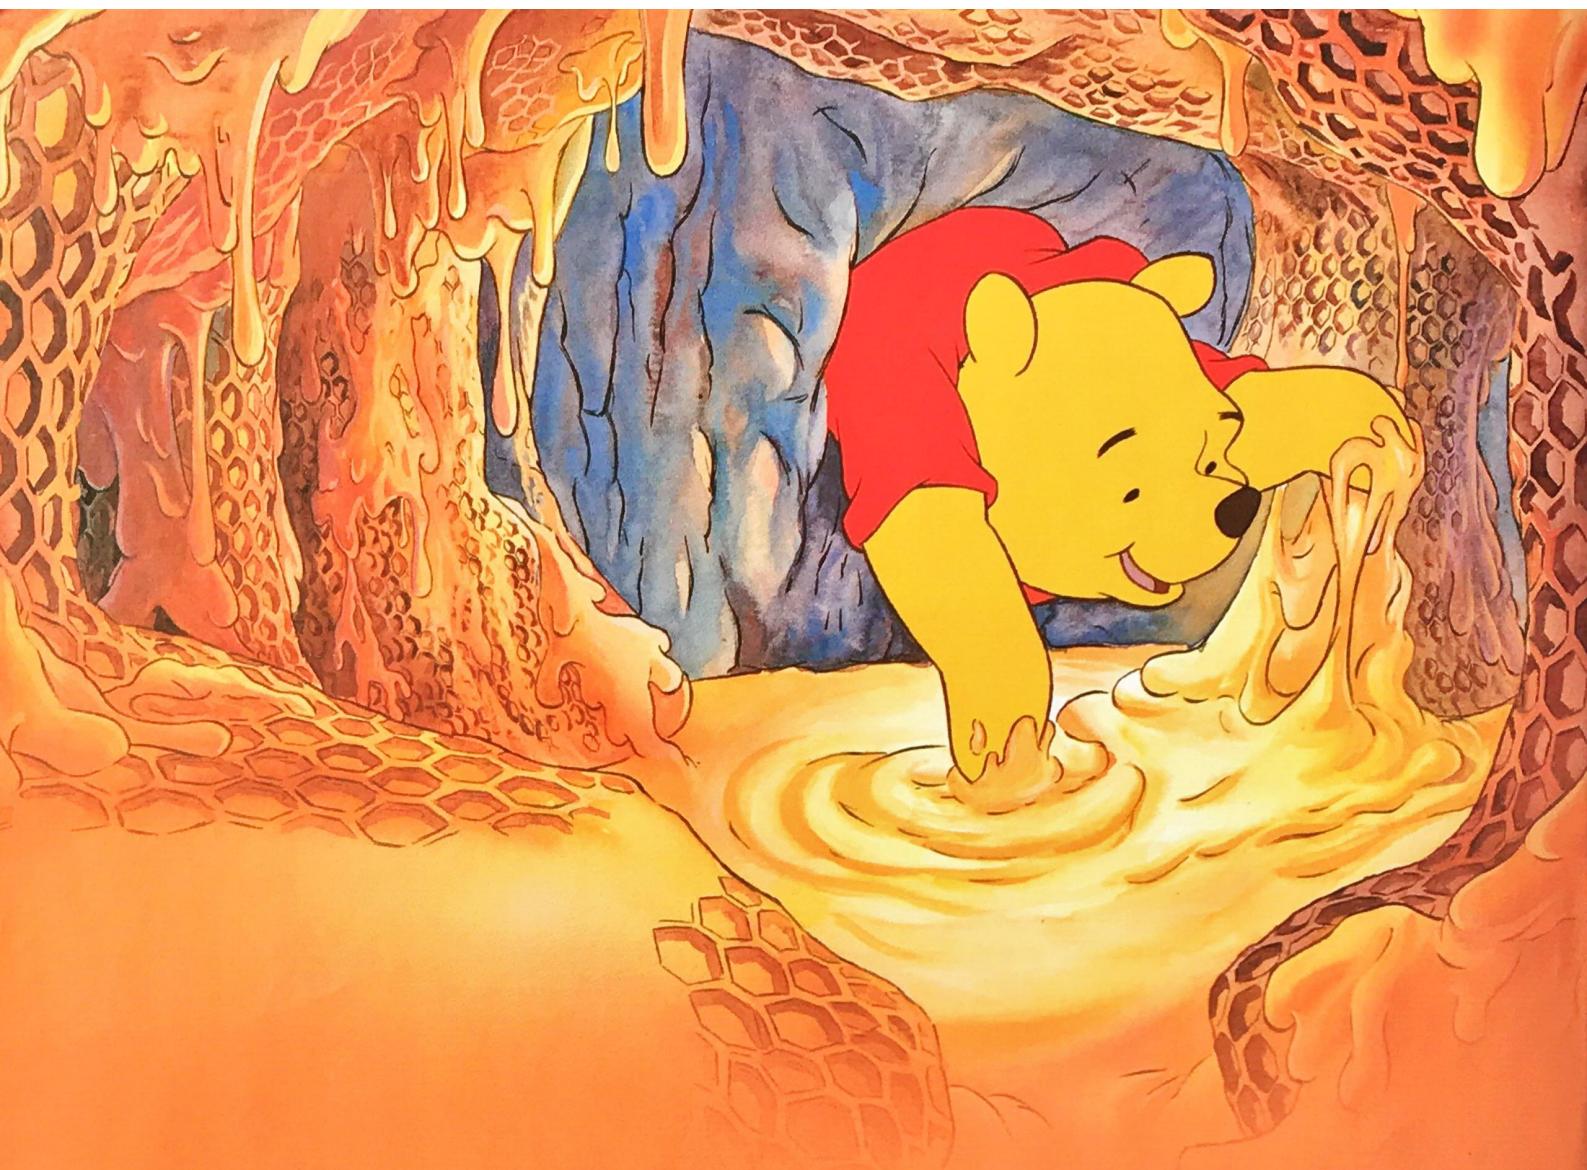

One, two, three.

A scene from a children's book. Winnie the Pooh is shown in mid-air, flying towards the right. He is wearing his signature red shirt. Above him, the word "Weeeeeeee" is written in a white, bubbly font. The background shows a clear blue sky and some green trees in the distance. To the right, the trunk of a large, gnarled tree is visible. The overall atmosphere is playful and dynamic.

Weeeeeeee

A continuation of the scene from page 13. Winnie the Pooh is still flying through the air, moving towards the right. He is carrying a large honey pot in his arms. The word "Weeeeeeee" is written again above him in a blue, bubbly font. Below him, the text "Honey ... !" is written in a smaller, black font. The background remains a clear blue sky with distant trees and the large tree trunk on the right.

"Weeeeeeee. Honey ... !"

“Mmmmmm ... honey.

Thank you, bees.”

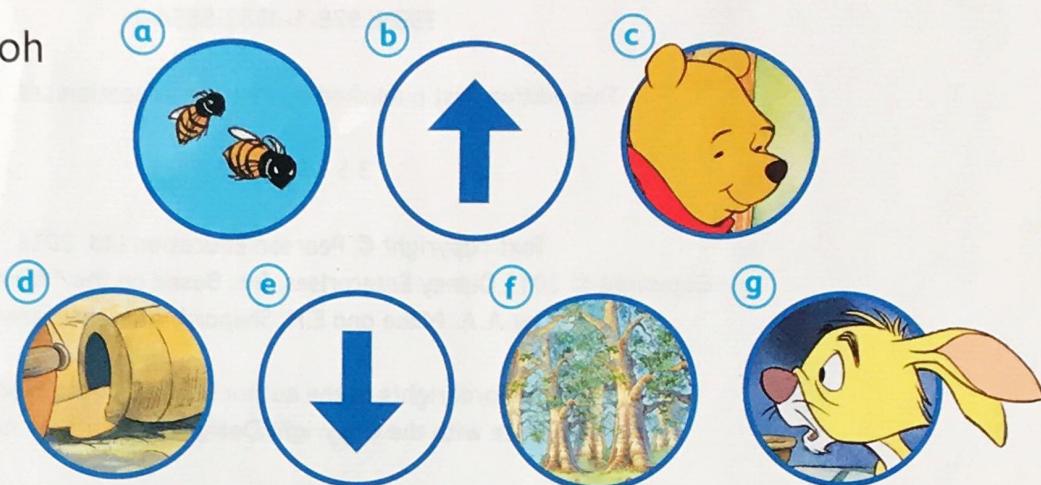

Winnie the Pooh is happy.
